

Disability Training Internship

Are you interested in advocating for and supporting individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD)? This opportunity will strengthen your communication, promote person-centered practices, and address real-world challenges like access to healthcare, housing, and aging with IDD. Whether you're new to the field or looking to deepen your impact, you'll leave with tools to make a meaningful difference in people's lives AND have a potential job to support your time studying. A $1000 stipend is available for completing the training and a minimum of 60 hours of internship.

Summer
2025

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- Various communication techniques such as visual aids, sign language, and non-verbal behavior.
- Gain experience in modifying and implementing activities, including art, music, physical exercise, self-advocacy, or other areas of interest.
- Understand the importance of self-advocacy.
